DR. WALTER MULLIS —Pert Photo

NEVADA CITY: Dr. Walter Mullis, dentist, opened his fine new offices in a new structure at 435 Zion Street on Monday, April 12. Mullis is very well known in this community. For the past six months he had practiced with Dr. Walter Hawkins.

Mullis' brother is William Earle Mullis, proprietor of the Nevada City Home Laundry and retiring commander of the local post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Mullis was born in Bakersfield in 1918. He attended grammar school in Sacramento and went to high school in Nevada City.

During the war, the young dentist served for a year in the Air Corps. He was stationed at Mather Field, California and Ellington Field near Houston, Texas.

He studied dentistry at the University of California College of Dentistry. While there he was a member of the Psi Omega fraternity and, in his last year, president of that organization. Mullis was also a member of the powerful student council.

His offices, of cottage type construction, represent the last word in modern dental facilities. Mullis resides with his brother on Boulder Street.

He is a member of the Lions Club and the Episcopal Church.

CHAMBER DISCUSSES MARKERS

GRASS VALLEY: The Grass Valley Chamber of Commerce directors Tuesday evening considered several complaints that they feel need immediate attention.

On Saturday, according to Eugene Ingalls, the College of the Pacific student tour of historical sites, visiting Grass Valley and Nevada City, had a hard time finding the monument to the discovery of gold ore, which stands amid pines near Brighton Street, just outside the city limits.

While students were there, three cars were mired deep in the mud. "Something must be done to place markers, so the monument can be easily found," declared Ingalls, "and the roadway improved."

Secretary and manager Fred Brady stated that the monument was a disappointment to him. He the monument would be surrounded by a well kept lawn with a good road leading directly to it. The down at the hole appearance of the historical marker, he stated was due, in part, to the fact that small boys have peppered the bronze plate with rocks.

The bronze plaque on the public library, marking the birthplace of Josiah Royce, the great philosopher, is usually overlooked, it was stated, because there is no direct path from the street leading to it.

The directors will hold a dinner meeting May 11th at which Fred Brady, new secretary-manager will be formally introduced. Tickets will sell for $2.50. Chief speaker of the evening will be Elmer Stevens who will sketch the stirring history of Nevada County.

President Lou Hartman expects there will be a capacity crowd, about 120 to fill the seats at the dinner table.

NEVADA CITY: The International Relations Section of the American Association of University Women met Tuesday night, April 20th in the Nevada City Elementary School Auditorium, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Carville Sparks and held a symposium on some of the trouble spots of the world.

Speakers were Ruth Frantz on Russia, Helen Chapman on Germany and Maxime Sleeper on Japan.

San Francisco's elevation ranges from sea level to 916 feet.

Just Wonderin'

I Wonder when we give advice
To those who seem to need it,
How very frequently we find
That they quite fail to heed it.
What if we took our own advice
From day to shining day,
Would we become bright angels then
Sprout wings and fly away?

I Wonder at certain occult rules which seem to govern the giving and taking of advice. Perhaps these rules are not occult to all, but they do follow a pattern. First of all, we all have advice to give and we are fully self persuaded that it is good advice; secondly, we are eager to give it away and we serve all comers with a degree of tolerance which might well be displayed in other daily contacts; then after giving our advice, we sit back and- " "aye, there's the rub," for contrary to our expectations our precious advice is seldom if ever taken. The lines we laid down are not followed, the pattern of conduct we prescribed is often completely ignored.

Now, there are times when we, ourselves ask for advice; in such cases is it not true that we run true to form? Having secured the requested commodity, do we accept it as our rule of action, or do we just say, "thank you," to a generous friend and then proceed to "gang our ain gait?" That is a simple question for we can all answer it for ourselves.

Perhaps advice is not meant to be taken. Perhaps like the weather, it is merely an adjunct of polite conversation, of passing interest, but completely ob-

THE - Diary of a 49'er

FROM THE BOOK EDITED BY C. L. CANFIELD

JUNE 15, 1851—I did some work last week that brought back old times. We have kept the horse I bought to ride to Sacramento and there is plenty of feed for him now. The hills are covered with grass, but later in the year it all burns up and then we have to provide fodder. There is a clearing up on the mountain of some dozen of acres where the grass grew pretty rank and we concluded we would cut it and stack it for fall and winter use. I had a dickens of a time finding a scythe and rake and had to ride down to a valley below Rough and Ready before I could get them. The owner would not sell, but agreed to loan them for a week provided I would pay ten dollars for their use and deposit thirty dollars for the safe return, which I did. It took Pard and me three days to mow and cure it and we stacked about three tons. Counting two days going and returning the scythe and rake and two men three days' cutting, Pard says our hay stack cost us about six hundred dollars. After all, we don't look at it that way; we both enjoyed the change of work, although it was harder than mining. We certainly do live an irresponsible, free and easy sort of a life. Every day on the claim counts for a hundred dollars, but we don't mind skipping a day, laying off for an afternoon, or quitting work sun two hours high. Pard says the claim is a treasure house and it doesn't make any difference whether we draw out our gold in one month or three, as long as we know it is there.

Letters from home came yesterday. Dad says he doesn't blame me for wanting to stay while I am making so much money. He writes that mother is better and that since I sent the thousand dollars they are playing rich folks. He is bossing the two farms and mother has a hired girl. She has bought a new black silk dress for church and he a new buggy, and that is all they have used of it. Bless them! I suppose they think that is awful extravagant. Hetty has not been to see them but once since she heard of her brother's death, but he thinks she will come out all right. There are wonderful tales going round old Norfolk about my

APRIL 20. This community stood as one in the school bond election held Friday afternoon, and without a single dissenting vote approved of the bond issue to build a new school house for the Camptonville Union School District. The vote stood with 102, with three absentee favorable ballots, making a total of 105 in favor of and none against.

As a result of the election the local school district expects to have a modern school building, to accommodate three rooms for three teachers, with a kitchen, dining room, and all other modern conveniences, the cost of the same to be around $100,000. The bond issue guaranteed $18,000 of the cost,, and the government is to put up the balance. As the plans now stand, the new building should be ready for occupancy for the opening of the new term on July 1st., 1949.

The new building will not be built in the same place as the present grammar school building. It may be necessary to acquire some adjacent land in which event, E. L. Cleveland, a member of the Board of Trustees, and the owner o fthe adjacent property has offered to donate the same to the district without cost.

The present grammar school building will be made over into a large auditorium for school purposes and for a community hall for the town.

W C. Williams, principal of the grammar school and high school teacher is ceredited with all the work of having prepared and presented the lengthy applications and other procedures in getting this matter as far advanced to the present state.

WATCH WHEELS GO ROUND

Rarely, if ever, do motorists watch the wheels of their cars go round, point out officials of National Automobile Club's Service Department. One, however, did so recently as he stood on a corner waiting for his wife to pick him up. As she approached he noticed the wheels of the car. They wobbled as a result of excessive bearing play. He had them adjusted and counts himself today as being ahead several thousand miles of tire service.

Although fish can "hear" they have no external or middle ear.

Veterans' News

All members of the Veterans Administration National Advisory group on medical problems, including Dr. Francis M. McKeever, Los Angeles, and Dr. Charles F. McCuskey, Glendale, have accepted reappointment by Carl R. Gray, Jr., Administrator of Veterans Affairs.

The group acts in an advisory capacity to Gray and Dr. Paul B. Magnuson, chief of VA's Department of Medicine and Surgery, on over-all policies concerning medical service to veterans.

Unless veterans attending colleges and universities under the G-I Bill notify Veterans Administration within 30 days before the end of a term or semester that they do not want to take leave, VA automatically will place them on 15 days leave.

VA explained that veterans in colleges and universities are placed on subsistence rolls from the date of enrollment until 15 days after the close of the term or semester.

This automatic 15-day leave policy makes it possible for veterans studying under the accelerated program to receive unbroken subsistence payments between terms or semesters.

The deadline for application for vehicles at Government expense under the "autos for amputees" probram is June 30. Eligible veterans should submit their applications to VA at least 15 days prior to the deadline to allow ample time for processing.

The law provides an automobile or other conveyance at a cost not to exceed $1,600, for any World War II veteran who lost, or lost the use of, one or both legs at or above the ankle as the result of service incurred injuries.

QUESTION: My son was killed in action during World War II, and I would like to know if I am entitled to receive compensation?

ANSWER; You are entitled to compensation, provided dependency can be shown. Dependency will be held to exist if you do not have sufficient income to provide reasonable maintenance for yourself and your family.

QUESTION: My son, who is in a Veterans Administration hospital, is trying to get a pass to visit me. Will Veterans Administration pay for his transportation to and from the hospital?

ANSWER: No. All travel while on leave from a Veterans Administration hospital is at the expense of the veteran.

TEMPER AND DRIVING

"Losing your temper while driving is a dangerous practice," warns Bert Stewart, Jr., Public Safety Director for National Automobile Club. "The patient and cool-headed driver is much less likely to become involved in an accident."

solete by tomorrow. Perhaps it is asked as a sort of complimentary to those of whom we ask it, a means of flattering their peculiar egoes and the tending to increase our stock in their estimation.

What if we became miserly with the advice we, ourselves have in stock and instead of giving it away, used it ourselves? We have great faith in our own judgements, why not in our daily activities and contacts, use our own advice? Probably if we did follow that line of proceedure, we'd all change into pink angels with well fitting haloes, sprout blue wings and fly away. That is a consideration which gives us pause.

This subject of advice given and taken is one worthy of careful inspection; there is one point however, which relieves the mind of any burden of responsibility; advice is seldom taken and acted upon, that it can't do much harm or good in this very self opinionated world. Still, whenever we feel the urge to bestow the riches of our experience in an advisory form upon our fellows, let's beware, for the person we are enriching, might be an exceptional character, and inadvertently take our words seriously.

One bit of advice that is being passed about at this time is, "talk peace instead of war." I have passed that tid bit out myself upon various occasions, and in so far as I can see, the effect has been nil. Now, I'm going to follow my own advice, but if I find myself growing wings, I shall desist, for I don't want to be an angel—just at this exciting period of world history?

After all, where precepts fail, example does its perfect work; if we all work as efficiently at the task of presenting good examples to those about us as we do in purveying advice, the world of mankind would move forward and upward at a greatly accelerated pace. We could, you know, take that little unfinished clod, ourselves in hand and make of it something worthy of emulation that is, if we would but follow our own advice.

I rode over to Nevada yesterday and bought a revolver from Zeno Davis. I heard that the fellow I had a fight with at Selby Flat has threatened to do me up when he meets me and Pard says that a good pistol is a great peace persuader. I won't hunt any trouble and I won't run from it.

Last week was an off week, but we are going now to put in steady work until we clean up our ground.

Another thing that makes it pleasant is the change in Pard's disposition. Instead of moping around and sulking, as he used to, he has brightened up and is as cheerful as a robin. Then he doesn't get into the dumps when he gets letters from home, and they come regularly. The Diary of a 49'er sence makes the heart grow fonder." Then he whistled to Jack and they went out under the big pine and had a great romp. He's a good fellow and I suppose some time he will tell me more about his life. I know he went through college and hung out his shingle as a lawyer. He can recite poetry by the yard and quote from all sorts of books. We both went down on the Yuba River today and we have about agreed to try river mining when the water gets low. We will worm a company of ten men, each putting in three hundred dollars or more, if necessary. We have got to look around for somebody to whipsaw out a lot of lumber as we cannot haul any from the mills and it will have to be cut on the river banks near the claims.

MYSTERY HOUSE

Winchester Mystery House, a touring attraction located three miles west of San Jose, is reported by National Automobile Club to have been under construction for 36 continuous years and to have cost more than $5,000,000. The house has 160 rooms, 47 fire places, more than 2,000 doors, at least 10,000 windows and 15,000 panes of glass. Construction was halted in 1906 when the eccentric Mrs. Winchester interpreted the earthquake as an expression of displeasure by the spirits.
